

A Gift to Queen Victoria

“We consider all those prophets true who appeared in the world whether in India, or Persia or China or any other country..” (p.7)

“People, who defame the prophets of other nations declaring them false, are always enemies of peace and harmony because there is no greater mischief than abusing the greats of other nations. we should not attack the honour of the prophet of that religion or mention him in an unseemly manner. Rather we should object only on the current practices of that nation.” (p.8)
